Long Coal Strike Is Outlook for U.S.

480,000 Miners Off Jobs Awaiting Contract; Talks Recessed

White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., Sept. 23 (AP)—With John L. Lewis' miners on a "no-day work week," a long coal strike seemed possible today.

That term was coined by Lewis himself in describing the walkout which has kept the nation's 480,000 miners off the job since Monday. He indicated the no-day week will stay in force until a new contract is reached.

The United Mine Workers' chief bluntly rejected a two-year extension of the old contract yesterday. He declared the current dispute in the steel industry was blocking a wage settlement for miners.

Lewis and operators of the north and west, who have been meeting at this resort at intervals through the summer, recessed their talks until September 28.

Both sides reported stonewall opposition, and Lewis reverted to his old policy of "no contract, no work," at least for the course of (Continued on Page 2, Col. 3)

St. Mary's Plans Triple Anniversary Service Sunday

Sunday, September 25, will be a unique occasion for St. Mary's Church in Kingston. It will be the one hundredth anniversary of the building and dedication of the church, the 53rd of its consecration and the 35th anniversary of the ordination of Monsignor Drury.

Monsignor Drury will offer a Mass at 10 o'clock and the Mass will be followed by a luncheon at 12 o'clock and the sermon will be preached by Monsignor Stunzel, a former pastor of the parish.

The music of the Mass will be rendered by St. Mary's Choir under the direction of Theodor Rice, organist, and the recently installed organ will be used on this occasion.

Many of the parish members of the church, the priest who during the years has served at St. Mary's together with the native clergy of the parish have been invited.

The parish was founded in 1842 by Father Moses Maxwell, who began the building of the church in 1848, the cornerstone of which was laid on May 21, 1848 and the church was dedicated on July 8, 1848. The church being free of debt during the pastorate of Monsignor Bartsell, it was consecrated by the late Archbishop Corrigan on September 6, 1896.

It was at that time that the stained glass windows were purchased and the beautiful marble altars were installed. The anniversary of the church will be celebrated with the 35th anniversary of Monsignor Drury's ordination. He was ordained by Bishop Cusack in St. Stephen's Church in New York city on September 19, 1914.

The parishioners and former parishioners of St. Mary's, as well as its many friends are all invited to join in the Mass of Thanksgiving.

Arms Bill Given Okay Vote 55-24

Only 2 Minor Changes Are Made; Represents Win for Vandenberg, G.O.P. Senator

Taft Fears Trouble Ohioan's Stand Is Russia Might Be Incited by Program

Washington, Sept. 23 (AP)—The administration chalked up an important victory in foreign policy today on the strength of the Senate's 55 to 24 approval of an overseas arms program.

The Senate reached its decision late yesterday to rearm friendly nations after beating down two moves to make a $200,000,000 cut in the $1,314,010,000 arms bill.

The measure came through the Senate with only two minor changes. This was in part a personal triumph for Senator Vandenberg (R-Mich.), the two party leader in foreign affairs who led the fight for the aid program.

Nineteen Republicans joined 36 Democrats in voting for passage. Ten Democrats and 14 Republicans voted against it.

Connally told reporters: "As chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, I am highly gratified at passage of the program and delighted over the defeat of the crippling and unfeeling amendments."

In the debate, Senator Taft (R-Ohio) contended that the program contemplates arming every nation in the world that might be opposed to Russia. This, he said, "is likely to incite Russia to war."

But Vandenberg argued that the goal is "stopping aggression before it reaches us." Had the foreign aid program to date been less successful than it has been, he said, "we probably would be voting billions" to fight a defensive war.

Trio Is Apprehended on Minor Automobile Count; Sought by Glens Falls

Glens Falls detectives were expected to arrive here today to take into custody three youths who were arrested early this morning by Officer Joseph Fallon at St. James street and Broadway.

They were held largely on suspicion of the officer and were booked on a minor motor vehicle charge and disorderly conduct.

Police Chief Raymond VanBuren said he had obtained information from upstate police and statements from the youths indicating that they may be responsible for a series of thefts in the Glens Falls area.

Bernard Leo Bell, 18, of Hudson Falls, eldest of the group was charged, with operating the old model automobile in which they were riding without a light over the license plate, and Edward Harrington, 16, also of Hudson Falls, was booked on a disorderly conduct charge.

The other 15-year-old youth was scheduled for children's court action, but it was expected that he would be taken by the detectives to Glens Falls with the others.

Officer Fallon reported the arrest at 4:05 a. m., and Officers Cecil Evers and Leonard Ellisworth were assigned to bring the trio to headquarters.

Chief VanBuren said the Glens Falls detectives were expected to question the youths on a series of thefts in the Glens Falls area during the past year. They admitted to him, the chief said, several thefts from automobiles, gas stations and refreshment stands.

Bell and Harrington were arraigned before City Judge Raymond J. Mino today and were sentenced to a fine of $5, or five days in jail each. They were at first slated to take the jail sentence, but through later arrangements were expected to be released to the custody of the upstate detectives.

Fletcher Reminds Motorists to Renew Operator Licenses

Albany, Sept. 23—Motor Vehicle Commissioner Clifford J. Fletcher had a two-point memo for New York state motorists today:

1—Four out of five operator licenses expire one week from today. He urged drivers to check the expiration date on his license and to make renewal application immediately if it is found that the license runs out September 30.

2—All 1949 motor vehicle registrations, except for motorcycles, go on sale at one-quarter of the annual fee starting Saturday, October 1.

Eight New York Druggists Held in Sleeping Pills Sales

New York, Sept. 23 (AP)—Eight New York city druggists were under arrest today as state and city authorities pressed a drive against sale of sleeping pills without prescriptions.

The crackdown was spurred by a mounting death toll from overdoses of sleeping pills.

Two of the eight druggists booked yesterday were said to have done a lucrative business in sleeping tablets among persons in the Broadway theatre district.

At the request of the health department, police said, a special subsection of the narcotics squad for more than two months has been checking on reported violations at 200 of the city's 4,000 drug stores.

Jerome Trichter, working with police in the drive, said "barbiturates are closely tied to the problem of narcotic control."

"It has been our experience," he added, "that drug addicts secure barbiturates in order to sustain themselves when they cannot get their regular supply of narcotics."

Trichter said use of the sleeping pills without medical supervision contributes to "crime and accidents because it always fears and reduces inhibitions."

The department reported that there were 661 cases last year of poisoning from overdoses of the pills, and 500 cases so far this year.

The death toll from such overdoses showed a steady climb from 156 in 1945 to 200 in 1948, the department said.

State Attorney General Nathan Goldstein is handling prosecutions in the drive, the first major crackdown under a state barbiturate law passed in 1946.

It provides a one-year prison sentence, a $500 fine, or both, for selling barbiturates without a physician's prescription.

Under the current joint city-state drive, Goldstein said, all evidence will be turned over to his office so as to provide speedy, centralized prosecutions.

Hottest Summer Bows Out at 4:06

New York, Sept. 23 (AP)—The hottest summer on record went into history books at 4:06 a. m. (E.S.T.) today. Autumn began at that moment.

The weather bureau here said the average temperature for the summer of 1949 was 75.9 degrees. The old record average was 75 in 1901.

The weather bureau said in a classic understatement about those recent days when the mercury hit as high as 88: "It sometimes made for discomfort."

Balanced Budget Called Unsound by University Experts

Varied Expenditures Offer Disruption of Federal Services, They Declare

Washington, Sept. 23 (AP)—A group of university economists told Congress today the idea of a balanced federal budget every year is an unsound principle.

If the government's spending and income balances each other in good years as well as bad, they said, "there would have to be either big fluctuations in expenditures programs or severe and perverse changes in tax rates."

"To vary expenditures in this manner," they continued, "would disrupt the essential services provided by the government."

"Applied to military expenditures, it would mean a large defense program in boom years and a small defense program in depression years."

The 13 economists, representing the National Planning Association, expressed their views in a pair of reports to a Senate-House economic subcommittee.

The association had been asked by Senator Douglas (D-Ill.), head of the subcommittee, to survey governmental fiscal, credit and monetary policies.

The planning group, which is headed by H. Christian Sonne, described itself as a "nonpartisan, non-political organization, established in 1934, devoted to planning by Americans in agriculture, business, labor and the professions."

In one of the reports, titled "Fiscal Policy in the Near Future," the economists deplored the $5,000,000,000 income tax cut put into effect last year by the Republican-controlled 80th Congress.

"Past decisions on taxes and commitments on expenditures have resulted in a current deficit in the cash budget," the group said.

"We regard those decisions as unfortunate, particularly the decision in 1948 to reduce taxes; it would have been the course of sound policy to have revenues exceeding or, at the least, equaling expenditures at the present level of business activity."

But the economists added that it would be unwise to increase taxes now.

Their statement on taxes came on the heels of a comment by Vice President E. A. Tamm that a substantial reduction in taxes might be made in the next year or two.

Barkley, addressing a druggists convention in New York yesterday, said however that he is in no position to predict just when corporation and individual income taxes can be cut.

Girl, 16, Attacked By Strange Motorist

A resident of South Wall street reported to the police at 3:30 p. m. Thursday that her 16-year-old daughter "was attacked by a man who appeared to be having trouble with his car."

The man grabbed the girl from behind as she passed, placed a hand over her mouth and threw her down into weeds by the roadside, the report said. The girl got free, ran home and related the incident to her mother.

Officers Gurnsey Burger, Jr., Ernest Bartroff, James Burns and Thomas McGrane, were dispatched to investigate, but were unable to head off the man, who was described as about five feet eight inches tall. He had brown hair and wore a plaid shirt, the report said.

President Given News At Capital

Truman Says Incident Emphasizes Need for Atomic Energy Setup for Control

British Get Word London Also Reports News of Explosion in Russia

Washington, Sept. 23 (AP)—The United States has evidence of a recent atomic explosion in Russia—news indicating the Communists at long last have learned to make an A-bomb.

President Truman disclosed this in a statement today. He then held an hour-long session with his cabinet about it.

Mr. Truman said the development emphasizes the necessity for "truly effective, enforceable international control of atomic energy."

The United States has sought that through the United Nations, but has been unable to get together with Russia on how it should be carried out.

With a note of reassurance to the American people, the President said the probability that some other nation might develop an atomic bomb "has always been taken into account by us."

Quickly after the White House announcement came word from the British government in London that it also has evidence of an atomic explosion in Russia. A British statement was promised later.

In Washington, the word swept swiftly around government departments and through Congress.

At the Pentagon—headquarters of the military services—there were signs of some excitement, but no officials would discuss the matter.

A spokesman for the Atomic Energy Commission, in reply to queries, said: "We have nothing to say."

Reporters pressed Secretary of Defense Johnson for more information when he left the cabinet meeting.

"Have we made any change in the disposition of our forces since this happened?" a reporter asked.

"No," Johnson replied.

"Does the cabinet know any more about this than it contained in the President's statement?"

"The cabinet knows all about it," Johnson said. "It was fully informed."

"Do you have reason to believe this was the first atomic explosion in Russia?" John was asked.

He smiled, shook his head, and refused to answer.

At the Capitol, Senator McMahon (D-Conn.), chairman of the joint Congressional Committee on Atomic Energy, called a meeting of the committee behind closed doors.

A Senate speech only yesterday, McMahon said that if Russia had the atomic bomb she could send the bombs to American ports on tramp steamers and blow up 35,000,000 people.

There was no official hint as to how the United States obtained its evidence of the atomic explosion in Russia.

But it is known that American scientists have been ready with delicate instruments for months to record an atomic explosion anywhere in the world.

Text of Statement

The text of Mr. Truman's statement:

"I believe the American people, to the fullest extent consistent with national security, are entitled to be informed of all developments in the field of atomic energy. That is my reason for making public the following information."

"We have evidence that within recent weeks an atomic explosion occurred in the U.S.S.R."

"Ever since atomic energy was first released by man, the eventual development of this new force by other nations was to be expected. This probability has always been taken into account by us."

"Nearly four years ago I pointed out that scientific opinion appeared to be practically unanimous that the essential theoretical knowledge upon which the discovery is based is already widely known. There is also substantial agreement that foreign research can come abreast of our present theoretical knowledge in time and in the three-nation declaration of the President of the United States and the prime ministers of the United Kingdom and of Canada, dated November 15, 1945, it was emphasized that no single nation could in fact have a monopoly of atomic weapons."

"This recent development emphasizes once again, if indeed such emphasis were needed, the necessity for that truly effective, enforceable international control of atomic energy which this government and the large majority of the members of the United Nations support."

Wicks Is Chosen To Head G.O.P.

G.O.P. County, City Leaders

ARTHUR H. WICKS

VINCENT G. CONNOLLY

Senator Is Picked for 4th Term

Vincent G. Connolly Is Renamed City Leader; Dr. Devine, Thomas, Snyder Elected Assistant Chosen

Kenneth Wilson to Serve as Aide to Sen. Wicks; LeFevre Speaker

State Senator Arthur H. Wicks was unanimously elected county chairman of the Republican party for his fourth consecutive two-year term at the organizational meeting Thursday night of the Republican Central Committee.

In accepting the designation, Senator Wicks warned that these are "serious times." He called upon Republican committeemen to work hard for election of their candidates, even though this is an "off-year" election, for he said, it is the time the trend toward a socialized state be stopped.

"Only through the instrument of the Republican party can this country be saved from the socialized state to which we are heading," he said.

At the meeting, he said, his duties as chairman of the party are to see that the Republican party is in the best possible position to win the next election. He said he would not have accepted reelection as county chairman if these were not serious times. But, he concluded, "there is no finer work I can dedicate myself to than to the preservation of the American system of government, at least in the county of Ulster."

Nomination of Senator Wicks was made by Frank Campochiaro of Glens.

Also reelected were Dr. Alice Devine of the town of Wawarsing as vice chairman, who has held that position for about 10 years; Herbert E. Thomas of Kingston as treasurer, who has been treasurer five years; and Vincent Connolly as city chairman for Kingston, who has been four years in office. Nomination of Connolly was made by Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk.

Robert A. Snyder of Saugerties was elected secretary of the county organization, to replace James Simpson, who resigned in accepting the nomination and subsequent unanimous election. Snyder said, "I realize I succeed a man that did such a splendid job. I am afraid my efforts will suffer by comparison. With Senator Wicks' help, with your help and with divine guidance, I will try to do my best."

All elections were unanimous and all were elected for two-year terms.

Designations Are Made

By resolution, the Republican Central Committee designated Benjamin Matteson and Fabian L. Russell as members of the Congressional Committee; Frank Campochiaro and John J. Devine as members of the Senatorial Committee, and LeRoy Lounsbury and George F. Kaufman as members of the Judicial Committee.

Senator Wicks announced the appointment of Kenneth Wilson, supervisor of the town of Woodstock, as assistant to the county chairman, succeeding County Attorney Fred Stung, who resigned because of the pressure of business.

Among those who addressed the meeting was Congressman Jay LeFevre of New Paltz, who is spending a few days in Ulster county and plans to return to Washington this Sunday.

Congressman LeFevre stressed the importance of the coming election as a time to start campaigning against President Truman's "Fair Deal" program.

"It is time for the government to say 'no' to some of the ideas being promulgated by those left wingers," the congressman said.

He urged the election of Senator John Foster Dulles to the unexpired U. S. Senate term vacated by Senator Robert F. Wagner. Dulles, he said, is an "outstanding man in the senate," and should appeal not only to Republicans but to the "good old-time Democrats" who oppose the "Fair Deal" program for which former Governor Herbert Lehman, Dulles' opponent (Continued on Page 2, Col. 5)

Woman Is Hurt Seriously in Crash Philadelphia's Were Going Home on 209, Car Struck Culvert

An elderly Pennsylvania woman was seriously hurt and her husband less seriously injured when their automobile smashed into a culvert along Route 209 near Hurler at 3 p. m. Thursday, the sheriff's department reported.

The wife, Mrs. Elizabeth J. H. Vail, 71, of Mount Airy, Philadelphia, Pa., is in "serious" condition at Kingston Hospital, authorities there reported this morning. She was driving the automobile at the time of the accident, deputy sheriffs said. Her husband, Arthur Vail, 71, of the same address, is in "fair" condition, the hospital said.

The couple was riding south on Route 209 and about one mile south of Saxeville the 1937 Packard automobile they were in left the highway and ran into a culvert on the west side of the road, the sheriff's office said. The front end of the automobile was severely damaged, according to the report. Deputy Sheriffs William A. Frost and Arthur Smith made the investigation.

Canada Lines Threaten Suit Over Intoxication Statements

Cleveland, Sept. 23 (AP)—Attorneys for Canada Steamship Lines, Inc., threatened today to file a $250,000 libel or slander suit against anyone maintaining the captain of the ship Noronic was drunk when fire struck his ship at Toronto.

"That is the most positive denial I can make," said Frank Wilkinson, attorney for the line in Toronto, after C. Ralph Wilson of Cleveland testified here he thought Captain William Taylor was intoxicated during the fire.

The captain himself denied vigorously that he was drunk, when reached in a Toronto hospital. He is recuperating there from burns received in the Saturday morning blaze that took some 132 lives.

The sworn statement that started the controversy was made by Wilson yesterday before a hearing for Ohio survivors of the disaster, conducted by Cuyahoga county Coroner S. R. Gerber.

"I'd swear he (the captain) was so confounded drunk he should not have been on the ship," said Wilkinson.

He said he did not smell Taylor's breath, but said he saw the captain "supported by two police-

Wells Is Arrested After Car Hits Pole; Only Had a Permit

Bernard Ralph Wells, 18, of 48 Hasbrouck avenue was slightly injured about 11 p. m. Thursday when his automobile struck an electric light pole along Route 9W just north of the state police barracks at Lake Katrine, state police said.

The automobile, proceeding south, broke off the Central Hudson pole at its base, troopers said. The vehicle itself was "almost demolished," the report stated.

Wells was taken to Kingston Hospital by troopers and was treated for a laceration to the scalp. Following his release from the hospital, troopers placed him under arrest for driving without an operator's license and issued a summons returnable today before Justice of the Peace Percy Bush of the town of Ulster. Troopers said Wells had a learner's permit but was not accompanied by a licensed operator.

Congregation Ahavath Israel, Rabbi Philip H. Weinberg—The Jewish New Year, known as Rosh Hashanah, will be observed in Kingston this evening at Ahavath Israel Temple, corner of Wurts and Pierpont streets. Services this evening and Saturday evening will commence at 6:30 o'clock. Other services are planned Saturday and Sunday at 8 a. m. Rabbi Weinberg will conduct the services during the holiday. "Destruction or Reconstruction—Which?" will be the topic of his sermon Saturday morning. His sermon for Sunday morning will be on the theme "The Modern Message of the Ancient Shofar." Since religion does not permit the sounding of the Rumi's Horn, known as Shofar, on Saturday, it will be heard this year only Sunday at 11 a. m. The sounding of the Rumi's Horn serves to arouse the people to their spiritual shortcomings, to make them realize that another year has passed and that a new year is approaching. Registration for the Ahavath Israel Hebrew and Sunday schools will take place Tuesday, Sept. 27, from 4 to 7 p. m. at the vestry hall adjoining the Temple. The first late Friday night service will be held Oct. 21.

Long Coal Strike

the bargaining talks. The miners, who had been working a three-day week since their contracts expired in July, walked out last Monday in protest against suspension of pensions and disability payments from the three-year-old miners' welfare fund.

The suspension was ordered by Lewis and his welfare fund trustees after at least three large southern operators withheld their payments into the fund.

The operators said they could not be made to keep up the 20-cent tonnage royalty for welfare benefits in the absence of a written contract. That pact expired last June 30.

Lewis on July 1 directed the miners to work a three-day week indefinitely without a contract, and that seemed to mean he was abandoning the historic "no contract, no work" policy.

But the shaggy-browed mine leader told a news conference last night that the miners, finding themselves without a contract, are now exercising their options "to quit work."

He said the coal diggers want new wages, hours, and working conditions to "supersede" their old agreement.

Lewis said the miners patiently had worked the short week without a contract since July 1, but now he asked individuals to submit in the absence of any work or nod from Lewis when they quit work last Monday.

The United Mine Workers' leader insisted that the steel dispute was hampering any settlement in coal. He said George H. Lewis, head of Pittsburgh Consolidation Coal Company and leading spokesman for the northern and western operators, was interested in the national steel controversy.

Lewis said that the youthful but bald-headed Love was like the Biblical Samson, who pushed pillars apart and tottered a temple.

Lewis said Love "so successfully placed his shoulder to the column that he pulled the temple down around his ears."

Instead of having a three-day work week, Lewis said, "the mine workers individually have decided that until he changes his attitude, it will be a no-day work week."

Coffee Cup Causes Crash, Woman's Death

Harrison, N. Y., Sept. 23 (AP)—Mrs. Malvin Pierce, 53, wife of a publisher, was killed today in an auto accident which police said was caused by a cup of breakfast coffee.

The accident occurred when Mrs. Pierce accompanied her husband, president of McCall Corporation, fashion publishers, on a last minute dash to catch a New York-bound commuters train.

Police said it happened this way: "Mrs. Pierce, carrying the cup, got into a car which her husband was driving to the Rye railroad station. En route she set the cup on the seat between them. The cup tilted. Pierce tried to grab it, losing control of the car. The car smashed into a tree on Purchase street about 500 feet from the entrance to the exclusive Westchester Country Club grounds on which they lived."

Mrs. Pierce died instantly. Pierce was taken to the United Hospital, Port Chester, N. Y., with a possible broken nose and internal injuries.

Test British Defenses

London, Sept. 23 (AP)—War planes of the U. S. and four allied nations roared out over Britain beginning tonight in a test of the island's aerial defenses. Three nations linked with Britain in the western union defense pact—France, Belgium and Holland—are joining the Royal Air Force and the U. S. Air Force for the first time in games here. New ideas for the defense of London and port cities will be on trial.

The tray project will be started at the next meeting.

Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Quick and son called on Mr. and Mrs. John Corner Sunday.

The Junior 4-H Club held its meeting last week at the Alligerville school with Miss Virginia Hoppens and Miss Tier as guests.

Late Bulletins

Albany, N. Y., Sept. 23 (AP)—Court decision was reserved today in the Communist party's fight to kill the Feinberg law prohibiting employment of "subversive persons" in the state's public school systems.

Meanwhile, a temporary stay blocking enforcement of the controversial "loyalty" law by the Board of Regents continues in effect until a ruling is handed down, probably in mid-October.

Justice Harry E. Schurick of the state Supreme Court deferred decision after hearing:

1. Communist arguments for a temporary injunction to prevent enforcement of the law pending the outcome of a separate action for a declaratory judgment that the 1949 statute is unconstitutional.

2. A cross motion by the state for a "judgment on the pleading"—an immediate decision—that the 1949 law is constitutional.

Schurick ordered the temporary stay modified so that the Regents might delay from Oct. 31 to Nov. 30 the deadline when local school boards are required to submit loyalty reports on teachers.

The temporary stay blocking Regents action was granted Sept. 13 by Justice William H. Murray, a few days before the Regents were expected to publish a list of subversive organizations, membership in which would be considered evidence under the law, of disqualification for school jobs.

New York, Sept. 23 (AP)—Lowell Thomas, 57, author, newsreader and traveler, was seriously injured when thrown from a horse in a steep mountain pass in the Himalayas, his office said today.

The extent of his injuries could not be immediately learned but his office said the airforce had been asked to rescue him from the tiny mountain village of Gyantse.

His son, Lowell Jr., was with him at the time of the mishap.

Eight Druggists

heads the special narcotics squad, said some druggists not only sold sleeping pills without prescriptions to known customers, but did a substantial business with transients who peddled the pills.

He said some druggists were able to dispose of vast quantities of sleeping pills by maintaining a source of supply in other states where there are no restrictions on the sale of barbiturates. He named Pennsylvania as one such state.

Two of those seized yesterday were described as partners in the Coast Drug Company, of 871 Eighth avenue, at 52nd street, adjoining the Manhattan theatrical area. They were identified as Louis Petersel, 36, of 1002 Longfellow avenue, and Irving Mittelberg, 35, of 996 Aldus street, both of the Bronx.

Three others, arrested last night, were identified as: George Rosenberg, 39, of 2125 Holland avenue, the Bronx, a pharmacist clerk employed by the Oving Pharmacy at 122 Nagle avenue.

Bernard Monderer, 61, of 529 West 179th street, the Bronx, owner of a drug store at 278 Audubon avenue.

Harry Peltzman, 41, owner of the Peltzman Pharmacy at 2647 Broadway.

All of the five were booked on charges of illegal sales of barbiturates and released on bail for court arraignment today.

Earlier yesterday, police arrested Caesar Perilli, 60, druggist at 151 Bleeker street in Greenwich village; William Caselli, 38, of 919 Second avenue, and Daniel Kahan, 42, of 49 Avenue A, all in Manhattan.

These three were arraigned and paroled pending trial in General Sessions Court.

Police said Caselli's home is at 32 Locust avenue, Roslyn Heights. The investigation stemmed from a report to police by Health Commissioner Dr. Harry S. Mustard, who noted at "random" checks in both accidental and suicidal deaths from overdoses of barbiturates.

He said that from the 1945 toll of 156 deaths, the number rose to 183 in 1946, 193 in 1947 and 206 in 1948.

Timothy Hoben, 60

proceeding south when it skidded on the wet roadway and crashed head-on into the left front side of the tractor-trailer. The accident happened a few feet north of the Selkirk bridge, about seven miles south of Albany.

The Kingston man's car telescoped in the collision, pinning the driver in the seat. Troopers said the wreckage was dragged approximately 75 feet before stopping, the report stated.

Troopers said the tractor-trailer was driven by Joseph Forte of Palisade Park, N. J., who was released after questioning. The coroner's verdict was withheld pending further investigation.

Hoben was the son of the late Andrew and Elizabeth Meaney Hoben and had been employed as a lineman for the New York Telephone Co. He was a member of St. Joseph's Holy Name Society, the Empire State Telephone Union and the Telephone Pioneers of America. He also was a member of St. Joseph's Church.

Besides his wife, Jane Farrell Hoben, he is survived by a brother, John Hoben of Poughkeepsie; four sisters, Mrs. Albert Haines of Saugerties, Mrs. Rose Morse of Saugerties; Mrs. Margaret Sullivan, Albany, and Mrs. Veronica Dunn, Kingston.

The funeral will be held from the late residence, 168 Downs street, Monday at 9 a. m., thence to St. Joseph's Church where a high Mass of requiem will be offered at 9:30 a. m. for the repose of his soul. Burial will be in St. Peter's Cemetery in Rosendale.

Port Ewen Girl

(Abel street) just past Buck's junk yard near the city line, the sheriff's department said. The girl was thrown from the automobile and lay on the pavement when she was found by a following motorist and brought to Kingston Hospital, investigators learned.

In the automobile with Miss Severson were her sister, Alice, 16; Edith Williams, 15, also of Port Ewen; Gerald LaTorre, 18, of 18 Chapel street, Kingston, and William Bence, 18, of 31 Fitch street, Kingston, sheriff's men said. All were treated at the hospital and, except for Jeanette Severson, were discharged following treatment.

Deputy sheriffs said Bence was the driver and owner of the vehicle.

Bence Gives Story

During questioning following the accident, Bence told authorities he was proceeding toward Kingston when he saw an unknown vehicle enter the highway from a side road. He swerved to the right to avoid the vehicle, Bence said, and in doing so the right side of his automobile struck the pole, the sheriff's department said.

The Bence car skidded after hitting the pole, went across the road and came to rest on its wheels headed toward Eddyville. The right rear wheel was torn off, both doors and the side were damaged.

The three girls were taken to the hospital by Vincent Gregory, of 121 Abel street, and Gerald Diers of 27 DeWitt street, who were riding in an automobile behind the Bence vehicle, authorities reported. Bence and LaTorre were taken to the hospital by a taxi which came on the scene a few minutes later, the report stated.

Exact time of the accident has not been determined. Kingston police were first called to the accident by hospital authorities at 9:20 p. m. Patrolmen Louis Sapp, Jr., and Clarence Stickles were dispatched to the hospital to question the injured persons. They then went to the scene of the accident and finding it was outside the city limits, notified the sheriff's department.

Officers Investigate

The sheriff's office sent Clayton Vredenburg, county investigator; Lester Belmont, county identification officer; Harry Keator and Dallard Sapp, deputies, to the scene. They, with Coroner Ernest A. Kelly and District Attorney Louis G. Bruhn, conducted the investigation. Sergeant Arthur A. Reilly and Trooper Heywood Rasmussen of the Lake Barre Barracks, state police, also investigated.

When the hospital notified police of Miss Severson's death, Sgt. William Messing went to the hospital and detained the injured persons and the two witnesses, Gregory and Diers, and turned them over to deputy sheriffs for questioning. All were released late last night and no charges were placed, but the investigation is continuing.

Jeanette Severson is the 33rd person to die this year in Ulster county in a motor vehicle accident. Coroner Ernest Kelly issued a verdict of accidental death. At an autopsy performed this morning the girl's death was attributed to exsanguination, a rapid loss of blood due to a complete laceration of the external carotid artery on the left side.

The girl was born December 31, 1934, in Ulster Park. Her family removed to Port Ewen about six and a half years ago.

Funeral services will be held Monday at 2 p. m. from the Ernest A. Kelly Funeral Home, 111 West Chester street, and at 2:30 p. m. at the Port Ewen Methodist Church. Burial will be in the Port Ewen Cemetery.

Wicks Chosen . . .

ponent, has pledged his support. Congressman LeFevre lamented the fact that in five towns in Ulster county, Republican nominees for supervisor are unopposed. This situation, he said, makes it doubly hard to bring out the votes on an off-year election.

The congressman also complimented Senator Wicks as chairman for his accomplishments. His fame is "spreading out beyond our state," he said.

Candidates Are Presented

Republican candidates for the coming election who were presented were introduced to the committeemen by Senator Wicks. These were District Attorney Louis G. Bruhn, candidate for reelection; John Groves of Escopus, candidate for county treasurer; Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk, candidate for reelection as mayor of Kingston; Joseph Kelly, candidate for alderman-at-large, and Raymond Mino, candidate to succeed himself as city judge in Kingston.

The meeting was opened by Robert Snyder, acting secretary. Jacob J. Donovan of the town of Lloyd was elected temporary chairman to preside until the election of the permanent county chairman.

Before closing the meeting, the committeemen gave a vote of thanks to John W. Lent of Glasco, senior committeeman who did not attend the meeting, and to the county committee. Although Lent himself said he could not recall exactly how many years he served on the Republican Central Committee, Frank Cumpochario said:

Senator Wicks said that Lent, in devoting a good portion of his life to this service, "is a splendid example for us to follow."

The meeting was held in the court room at the County Court House in Kingston. The room was well filled with a number of present despite the inclement weather.

Jurors Pay Visit To Napanoch and Honor Maj. Hanlon

A delegation of 40 members of the Association of Grand Jurors of Ulster County made a trip to the State Institution at Napanoch on Wednesday, September 21, being the guests of Superintendent Major Thomas J. Hanlon. A cordial welcome was extended the members on their arrival and the program included a tour of the different departments such as the industrial shops, mess hall, school and other departments.

There were musical selections by the band and a full dress military drill and parade by the cadets, which was reviewed by President Thomas J. Murphy and his staff of officers.

Secretary Henry G. Machold invited Major Hanlon to be a guest speaker at the annual banquet of the association in November. An honorary membership card was presented to Major Hanlon, the presentation speech being made by President Thomas J. Murphy. The major responded expressing his appreciation for the honor shown him by the association.

At the conclusion of the program a rising vote of thanks was given Major Hanlon by the members of the association for being such a genial host.

Arms Bill Okay

conference. He said he will fight to keep the Senate bill intact.

The biggest surprise in the voting was the administration's strength in defeating an economy move which had worried Senate leaders. The decisive vote was 46 to 32 against an amendment by Senator George (D-Ga.) to trim $200,000,000 off the $1,000,000,000 set aside in the arms aid program for western Europe.

As the Senate bill now stands, it provides:

- $1,000,000,000 for re-arming North Atlantic Pact nations. Half would be in cash and half in contract authority;
- $211,370,000 for Greece and Turkey;
- $27,040,000 for Iran, Korea and the Philippines;
- And $74,000,000 for the China area to be spent at the discretion of the President.

Part of these funds would be used to process and ship $450,000,000 worth of surplus U.S. military equipment overseas. The value of this equipment is in addition to the total arms aid. The House made all its reductions in the sum for western Europe. It provided nothing for China but its figures were the same as the Senate's for the other countries.

Cancer Fund Grants

New York, Sept. 23 (AP)—Grants totaling $107,500 from the Babe Ruth Cancer Fund have been given to five institutions in New York, Chicago and Philadelphia, it was announced last night. Fund officials said the $107,500 expands all the money presently in the fund. A $25,000 award was made to Hickliff Chemical Research Foundation at Katonah, N. Y.

State Police, Mine Owners Are on Alert in Altoona

Altoona, Pa., Sept. 23 (AP)—State police and mine operators were on the alert today for a recurrence of violence in the Blair county coal fields.

Sheriff J. H. Summers telegraphed Gov. James H. Duff last night for state police assistance, declaring he was unable to control the men at my command to control the situation.

Summers said his plea was made after mine operators used shotguns to hold 300 roving pickets at bay until state police arrived at the Kenner mine near Coupon, Pa.

The pickets were dispersed. Summers said, after four truckloads of coal—which the pickets threatened to dump—were driven away.

Mine operators at other points reported about 95 tons of coal had been dumped from trucks along state county roads, Summers said.

In his telegram to the governor, the sheriff said he understood "the same procedures are to be followed on a larger scale" today.

"I am unable personally with the men at my command," Summers informed the governor, "to control the situation. We therefore respectfully apply to you for adequate state police assistance."

Has Leg Injury

Officer Peter Camp reported to police headquarters at 3:42 p. m. Thursday that Kathleen Davis, 14, of 50 Plymouth avenue fell on a city bus while it was near St. Joseph's Church when a boy pulled the hood of her rain cape. She suffered a leg injury and was taken to her home by Officers James Burns and Thomas McGrane, in a patrol car, the report said.

To Unveil Statue

Atlanta, Sept. 23 (AP)—The statue of Eugene Talmadge, elected governor of Georgia four times, will be unveiled here today. The bronze and stone memorial will be accepted by old Georgia's son, the present governor, Herman Talmadge. Plaque tablets have been set up on the capitol lawn for the 6,000 visitors expected for the unveiling and speech-making. About 35,000 Georgians contributed to a fund to finance the statue.

Ceramics Experts To Visit Hutton's

The Hutton Co., brick plant on North street will be visited by two Dutch ceramic experts who will make a seven-weeks study tour in the United States, it was learned today.

They were scheduled to leave Washington Thursday for Philadelphia and planned to visit the local brick yard on Monday. The Economic Co-operative Administration at Washington said the two, Dr. M. J. Singer and A. Goedewaagen, under an E.C.A. technical assistance project, will study U. S. production of brick and tile with a view to applying American techniques in the permanent rebuilding of Holland's war-damaged cities.

They will tour industrial plants, universities and research laboratories.

Dr. Singer is director of the Ceramics Institute at Gouda, The Netherlands, and Goedewaagen is head of the Laboratory of Goedewaagen's Koninklijke Pijpen en Aardwerfabrieken, a ceramics factory at Gouda. They arrived in this country a few days ago and will stay until Nov. 11.

SHOKAN

Shokan, Sept. 22—Mr. and Mrs. M. Laboda of Grupeville were callers in the village Tuesday morning. Proprietors of a hardware store, the couple formerly boarded here while Laboda was employed by New York.

Services in the Ashokan M. E. Church are held each Sunday evening at 7:15 o'clock and the Sunday school hour is 10 a. m. The Rev. Milton H. Ryan, pastor of the Ashokan charge, also preaches in the West Hurley Church at 10:30 a. m. and at Glenford at 2:30 p. m. All this makes a busy Sunday for the reverend gentleman.

Clarence Phillips, Jr., has terminated his duties with the Commercial sections of the Ontario Trail and now has under consideration several opportunities for employment.

Those readers, who as property holders in the Ashokan country nearly four decades ago, had dealings with commissions and counsel in condemnation proceedings, will appreciate this one by "Mountaineer," gifted columnist of the Catskill Mountain Star. At the trial of a land case at Downsville (locale of Father Knick's latest waterworks project) last week it became necessary to know from a landowner the date of his mother's death. He could not recall the date. But the New York city attorneys knew the year, month and day. They know more about many properties than the owners themselves.

Mr. and Mrs. John Link, Jr., of Rye, and daughter, Joan, spent last week-end at the mountain road home of Mr. and Mrs. John Link. Joan graduated last month from the Powell's Model School in New York.

The pear crop in the twin villages this season is really something to talk about. While there are no commercial pear orchards in this section, the number of dooryard trees adds up to quite a lot, and these have been loaded to the breaking point for the past several weeks. Biggest pear to come to the writer's notice is a 14-ounce Bosc grown by Capt. Frank Jackson, who until his retirement from Uncle Sam's navy a few years ago, had spent more than 30 years on ships and naval shore duty.

James Rutherford, who has turned it on local rocky terrain for more than half a century, has dug a good crop of potatoes, long dry spell notwithstanding. The bachelor brothers "John and Jim" will have plenty of spuds for their own table, some to sell to the villagers, and not too many small ones for the pigs. Lack of continued wet weather this season opened to check early foliage blight, thus enabling the tubers to attain the size which should attend a lengthy growing season.

Allie Frost will conduct audiometer tests in the Ashokan schoolhouse at 1 p. m. on Thursday, Sept. 22, for the convenience of Olive Districts 3 and 4 pupils. Similar hearing tests will be held Monday afternoon, Sept. 26, at Boiceville and at Browns Station, 9 a. m., Friday Sept. 30. A sanitary survey of all schools of the Ontario central district is being made by the County Health Department.

Among the birthdays falling Sunday, Sept. 25, is that of Mrs. Alonzo Van Wagener, Sr., of the Tonche Mountain neighborhood of Ashokan. Mrs. Van Wagener, who with her family formerly resided in Shokan, has two children: Alonzo of Shandaken, and James, a U.S. student residing at home. Several members of a construction crew literally "lost their shirts" while putting in an electric line near Fleischmanns during the late summer heat wave. They had laid these habiliments on the bank of a brook, and while they were at work someone opened the gates of the dam at Lake Switzland, farther upstream. Upon returning to the scene, the men found the stream running full bank—and no torso coverings in sight.

Lucky in Crash

Allentown, Pa., Sept. 23 (AP)—Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Dinger, Tarrytown, N. Y., escaped serious injuries yesterday when their car was crushed by a tractor-trailer nearby at a hairpin on Route 22. State Policemen Robert Shuck and Jacob D. Oberholzer said that Dinger's car skidded crosswise on the wet highway. A truck-trailer, operated by George Tittle, Indianapolis, tried to miss the car while passing, mounted an embankment and then toppled over on the car. The Dingers, who suffered cuts and bruises of the head and hands, Tittle was not injured.

May Postpone Battle

Washington, Sept. 23 (AP)—The big civil rights battle in Congress seems likely to be postponed until next year. That goes for the House as well as the Senate, which already has shown signs of letting the whole issue slide for the remainder of this session. A quiet move is underway among House supporters of President Truman's civil rights program to hold off action for strategic reasons until the 1950 session.

First Day of Winter

Cortland, N. Y., Sept. 23 (AP)—It was the last day of summer—but in part of Cortland county it looked like the first day of winter. Patches of snow covered the ground yesterday at Munson's Corners, about a mile and a half west of here. Boys were reported throwing snowballs. A 10-minute hail and rainstorm hit Cortland.

Mary MacArthur Dies in New York Of Virus Infection

New York, Sept. 23 (AP)—Actress Mary MacArthur, 19, who became a celebrated figure in the theatre world at birth as the "act of God baby" of actress Helen Hayes, died last night.

The young woman's death came as she was preparing to appear next month in a supporting role with her mother in the Broadway premiere of a new play.

She died at Lenox Hill Hospital of what physicians termed a "generalized virus infection." Her father, newspaperman-playwright Charles MacArthur, and Miss Hayes were at her bedside.

The "act of God baby" label was planned to Miss MacArthur in a widely publicized theatrical controversy. It arose when her mother was forced to withdraw from a starring Broadway role in 1929 by the approaching birth of her child.

Her withdrawal resulted in closing of the play and a subsequent dispute over actors' salary rights.

Miss Hayes' side contended that having a baby is an "act of God" and could not be considered a breach of contract or other cause for withholding salaries. Arbitrators never ruled on the "act of God" claim, but ordered that two weeks' salary be paid to the play's cast.

Miss MacArthur was taken to the hospital nine days ago after becoming ill while appearing with her mother in tryout performances of a new play at Westport, Conn.

The young actress, a graduate of the American Academy of Dramatic Arts, lived with her parents at Nyack, N. Y.

At the age of seven, she played a walk-on part with her mother in "Victoria Regina," one of the plays that established Miss Hayes' fame as a portrayer of royalty. For several years after that, Miss Hayes barred a stage career for her daughter.

Since Aug. 15, Miss Hayes and her daughter toured summer theatres with the play, "Good Housekeeping," by William McCleery. It was scheduled for a Broadway opening next month.

They had appeared in the play in various theatres in Massachusetts, Connecticut and Maryland in preparing it for the Broadway premiere.

Miss Hayes and her daughter had a close companionship in the Kakiat Indian lands where they lived north of New York. She taught Miss MacArthur how to be an actress of royal roles, just as Miss Hayes' own mother had taught her to be "first a queen, then a woman."

T. V. Smith Opens Lectures at Bard

Annandale-on-Hudson, Sept. 23—Adjustments to modern life must take place on three levels—the scientific, the political, and the spiritual, T. V. Smith, professor of poetry, politics and philosophy, Syracuse University, declared in an address at Bard College on Wednesday evening, September 21. His talk marked the opening of a series of lectures on the "Disciplines of Democracy" that have been planned to help students to clarify and interpret the meaning of democratic ideals and behavior.

Dr. Smith pointed out that the easiest and simplest level of adjustment to modern life is on the level of commonsense as refined by science. More difficult are the predicament presented by relations between people which can be resolved through compromise but never solved. This broadly speaking is the problem of the politician. The tragedy of modern man, Dr.

Smith said, is that frequently his best is not good enough to solve or resolve many of the problems he faces. It is thus on the third level, the spiritual, that we must devote our major attention if our "age of anxiety" is not to become wholly neurotic. Man must learn to absorb himself from a sense of guilt, to forgive himself, to accept responsibility for what is within his powers and to disavow responsibility for what lies without his power. Only in this way can he find help in religion or psychoanalysis or a sane and wise philosophy of life.

Lawrence E. Frank, director of the Caroline Zachry Institute of Human Development and leader of the New York Society for Ethical Culture, will give the second lecture in the series on Wednesday, September 28 at 8 o'clock. His talk will emphasize the problems of human relations in a democratic society.

Fire Vs. Blitz

Fire losses in the United States in 1940 exceeded by almost 25 per cent the damage done by the German incendiary blitz on England during 1940 and 1941.

BABSON on BUSINESS

New York City, Sept. 23—Today Wall Street is the most conservative street in the United States. California is bursting with people; the Central West is bursting with huge crops; city people's pockets are bursting with high wages; but poor Wall Street is neglected.

Once when talking with President Roosevelt he said to me: "Roger, I will fix your Wall Street friends for encouraging people to expect to get something for nothing. It just can't be done and you know it." Consequently, he had the Securities and Exchange Commission formed so that a banker cannot "blow his nose" today without first getting permission from Washington.

It is true that this discouraged people from buying stocks; but the "SEC" did not stop the people's desire to get something for nothing. The business of the race tracks immediately boomed. Pinball and numbers games grew by leaps and bounds. People began to bet on football, baseball, and other sports which they never bet upon before. There is more gambling today than ever. Only a spiritual revival can stop the desire of people to get something for nothing.

Something for Nothing But we do not need to come here to Wall Street, where I am today, or to go to the race tracks, to see people trying to get something for nothing. The most flagrant cases are where wage workers are striking to get more pay for less work. It is okay to expect more pay for more work, but to expect even the same pay for less work is merely trying to get something for nothing.

On the train last week some shoe workers complained to me because they had not had a raise in pay this year. Yet, they admitted that they have two weeks vacation with pay; a week's sick leave with pay; a half hour of "rest periods" to smoke and play cards each day with pay. All this and holidays with pay amounted to 26 days for which they were getting full pay for giving no work in return.

Reasons For Unemployment

It is true that we now have unemployment and high prices; but this is largely due—not so much to high wages—as to the attempt of people to get pay for time when they do not work. Main street today needs a commission which will cut the fraud out of labor union practices, as Wall Street in 1929 needed a Commission to cut the fraud out of bankers' practices. Certainly, some labor leaders are trying to get their unions "something for nothing."

There, of course, are other reasons for unemployment and high prices. Among these I mention unnecessary government expenditures, huge business-killing taxes, the false attitude of Congress as to depreciation charges, the double taxation on dividends, and the handicap of the small business to get a start and compete with big business. Remember this: If there was a tax of 100 per cent on what we save, we would save nothing. Conversely, the lower the taxes, the harder we work and the more we save to invest in new industries to make more jobs.

More Jobs Require More Capital The discouragement of Wall Street is hurting employment. Babies are being born at the rate of about 7 per minute. Our population, after deducting all deaths, is increasing at 200,000 per month. To take care of these people, we must have more factories, more stores and more business. Today it requires an investment of $6,000 in land, buildings, machinery and working capital to provide a job for one more man. This means that the work of Wall Street should now be encouraged by the Truman Administration. Every reader of this column should, at the right time, buy good stocks and help provide the money for more machinery and for more jobs. This could be done by Congress eliminating the present double taxation on dividends. It also would help to have any income you get from dividends under $1,000 to be exempt from taxation. Those who love their work and save money usually become employers of others; but those who want short hours and "modern living" will always work from unemployment. Moral:—Live over your store or business and keep it open from 7 a. m. until 9 p. m.

'Human Torch' To Be at Sunset

Captain Duncan Fairlie, billed as the "human torch" leap attraction, will appear for a week at the Kingston Sunset Drive-In Theatre, Ontario Trail, beginning Sunday, Sept. 25.

Fairlie, who once lost a leg in the completion of his tortuous dive, is scheduled to jump off a 100-foot ladder after deliberately setting himself alive with the aid of gasoline and a match.

After the Pap from the lofty 100-foot ladder, the "human torch" topples into a six-foot tank which also has been set ablaze.

Fairlie suffered the loss of a leg when he missed the mark by inches as his body struck the tank. Unhindered by the loss, Fairlie emerged from the hospital with a newer and greater act which will be displayed all of next week at the Sunset Drive-In Theatre.

HUNTING DEATHS

Thirty-six per cent of all firearms deaths occur in the last three months of the year, which proves there is an open season on hunters as well as on game. November is the month when hunting accidents go up with a real bang, although October and December death tolls are well above the monthly average, the National Safety Council points out.

Humans in the line of fire, mistaking humans for game and hunting with the safety catch off, lead to almost two-thirds of all hunting accidents.

The Council declares most hunting accidents can be avoided if these rules are followed this fall:

Treat every gun with the respect due a loaded gun. This is the cardinal rule of gun safety.

Carry only empty guns, taken down or with the action open, into your auto, camp and home.

Always be sure that the barrel and action are clear of obstructions.

Always carry your gun so that you can control the direction of the muzzle, even if you stumble.

Be sure of your target before you pull the trigger.

Never point a gun at anything you do not want to shoot.

Never leave your gun unattended unless you unload it first.

Never climb a tree or a fence with a loaded gun.

Never shoot at a flat, hard surface or the surface of water.

Do not mix gunpowder and alcohol.

Driving a car is twice as dangerous in rural areas as in city areas, according to the National Safety Council. Higher speeds on rural highways account for much of the hazard.

OCCUPATION PERIOD

The Belgians, an extremely practical, down-to-earth people, are strongly in favor of a long occupation period for Germany. Fifty years is reported as the shortest time which the thrice-invaded Belgians believe would be advisable.

It is easier for Americans to maintain an objective viewpoint on the question of the occupation than for the French and Belgians. At the same time, it should be realized that this attitude of distrust and suspicion provides the atmosphere in which wars come into being. A Germany which has been able to acquire and maintain a self-sustaining economy, and which can enter into the peaceful give-and-take of relations with the rest of Europe, is perhaps less likely to think of war than an occupied Germany.

The occupation forces should remain long enough to assure that Germany is set on a peaceful path. How long is that?

FASTER FLYING

The man on the ground, reading occasionally about airplane flights faster than the speed of sound and about the possibility of flying a thousand miles an hour, usually figures there must be a catch somewhere. There is. The only kind of engine developed so far that is capable of driving a plane at those fantastic speeds burns fuel faster than it can be loaded on the plane.

Now scientists of the National Advisory Committee for Aviation say cautiously that research results suggest how it may be possible to build an engine that will work at a thousand-mile clip for as long as an hour. This seems to be the proper point to remark that now we're getting somewhere, and at a thousand miles an hour we certainly will be.

THE BUSINESS OUTLOOK

The Commerce Department reports, on the basis of August business figures, that there is no tendency for the business decline to deepen "appreciably". It finds, in short, that business conditions are bearing out the forecast, made seven before the decline began, of a leveling off before the end of this year.

It also has been forecast that any striking influence, such as general strikes in

SINK THE NAVY!

No one can absolutely guarantee that a navy will not be valuable in the next war any more than anyone can guarantee that there will not be a next war. Louis Johnson, secretary of defense, is pledged to achieve amalgamation of the armed services and he is personally pledged to economy, to the elimination of duplication and waste. It is now the general impression that this is to be achieved by reducing the navy to a subordinate arm of the defense—to its reduction from the pride of our country to an auxiliary ferry service.

If this is what needs be, then sink the navy. After all, bows and arrows were not retained through sentimentality after their usefulness as a weapon of offense and defense had disappeared. But who, in the year 1949, is prepared absolutely to guarantee that there will be no naval warfare in the next war? The man who does make such an assertion now assumes a very great responsibility indeed.

It, of course, is being asserted that all warfare will be in the air, with a ground force to take over and hold areas captured by air power. The atom bomb is to devastate entire nations, wipe out the civilian population and the national industry. Then along comes somebody else who says that the atom bomb is not what it is cracked up to be, but that chemical warfare and biological warfare will really do the job. We shall hurl germs and viruses and pests and plagues at people and they will die from disease rather than by bullets.

Of course, there is no experience with all this. The atom bomb was hurled at Japan, but the Japanese had been brought to their knees before that by starvation, by the cutting off of their food and raw material supplies. Neither chemical nor biological warfare was actually employed, each side being afraid of a weapon that could not be contained geographically. That does not mean that the atom bomb and the germ will not do infinite damage in the next war. It does mean that we do not know, from actual experience, what it will do. We are like doctors quarreling over whether it is the pancreas or the adrenal gland that makes the patient sick, when they really don't know.

Everyone denies that he wants to sink the navy, but that precisely is happening. The morale among naval men is the lowest that it has ever been in our history. Pretty nearly every naval officer I personally know—and I know a good many—is looking around to see what he will do next—and none of them expect to go into the army or air force. They are an embittered group and they will not keep quiet. They are today particularly embittered because the navy is not permitted to present its case to the American people.

This is bad public relations on the part of the Department of Defense, and I am surprised that Steve Early has not arranged it differently. If the navy has no case, an open hearing would establish the fact. If the navy has a case, then the country is entitled to know what it is. Few of us are experts in these matters and many of us pretend to be, merely repeat the prejudices of the side they favor. I admit my lack of knowledge, my inexperience, but add that I should like to hear the whole issue debated out loud. Unification does not mean suppression of the truth, nor will it mean anything but tragedy, if it is done without regard to the significance of all weapons in the next war.

There is a further error in not permitting the navy to state its case. It gives to laymen like myself the impression that there must be a motive for silencing the navy, while giving the other arms ample opportunity to defend their judgment. That is not a good impression to get about.

Louis Johnson is doing an admirable job which calls for the support of the entire country. Unification is a sound doctrine. Waste is inexcusable. Duplication is outrageous. But is it necessary to sink the navy?

That Body of Yours

By James W. Barton, M.D.

CAUSES OF DIZZINESS (VERTIGO)

Our first thought in a case of vertigo (dizziness) is that it is caused by a disturbance of the ear or the liver. It objects go round and round we blame it on the ear; if they go up and down we blame it on the liver. That this is true is often discovered by treatment of these two organs with the disappearance of dizziness for the time being.

Some clear-cut information regarding dizziness is given in "Annals of Ear, Nose and Throat" by Dr. A. C. Furstenberg, Ann Arbor, Michigan, who states that vertigo may be caused by some septic (poison) disorder in the body and also after having been given the very killing drug streptomycin for months. The dizziness following use of streptomycin caused the patient to feel that when he turned over in bed he felt that he was continuing to turn.

Vertigo may be one of the symptoms of a nervous depression, the dizziness passing away when a quieting drug such as dilantin (a barbituric drug) is used.

Dizziness is sometimes a symptom of high blood pressure, in fact many individuals believe that high blood pressure is the cause of most cases of vertigo. Dr. Furstenberg states that high blood pressure is occasionally the cause. In cases where high blood pressure is the cause, surgery "substantially" reduces the blood pressure.

Vertigo may be caused by disturbances or diseases of the central nervous system, the brain, but disturbances or diseases in the brain is usually associated with other symptoms of brain disease; vertigo being but one symptom thereof. Thus brain tumor is one cause of vertigo.

In some cases vertigo is the result of a disturbance in the acoustic (hearing) nerve as in Meniere's disease in which the vertigo is accompanied by a loss of hearing, nausea and vomiting. Dr. Furstenberg states that if a patient has a violent paroxysm of vertigo—one that is disabling—it is probably due to disturbance of the brain.

This is an important point for sufferers with dizziness. If an attack of dizziness comes on suddenly (with a bang) it is more likely to be caused by a disturbance of the hearing nerve, in which cutting down on table salt and brain foods brings relief, rather than a tumor or brain disease requiring operation.

QUALIFIED DRIVER

When a Boston man was called to court the other day for breaking a traffic rule, it appeared that the driver's license was not in his name, but in his cat's. Having failed to pass his driving test, he had taken out a temporary license and given the cat's name.

At that the cat might have been almost as good a driver as some on the road.

On Your Mark, Get Set . . .

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

Washington—Phil Murray, head of the C.I.O., and Ben Fairless, head of U. S. Steel, are both old friends and old sparring partners. They have sat through many difficult wage negotiations together and hitherto have always come to an agreement. This time it was apparent from almost the start of the strike negotiations that both men had their backs up.

When Murray arrived for the first meeting with Federal Mediator Cyrus Ching, Fairless greeted him like a long-lost brother. "Hello, Phil. I haven't seen you in a long time. You're looking very well."

Fairless didn't say so, but the real reason he hadn't seen Murray was because Fairless' boss, E. A. Tamm, the real dictator of U. S. Steel, wasn't anxious to have Fairless attend meetings of the Fact-Finding Board. He was afraid Fairless wouldn't be tough enough.

"I've been missing your telegrams lately, Phil," added Fairless, and there was a little sarcasm in his voice this time, as he referred to Murray's tough telegraphic ultimatum that U. S. Steel would have to negotiate on the basis of the President's Fact-Finding Board's recommendation. "We haven't had many telegrams in the last few days."

"Well, you may get another before the day is over," replied Murray.

U. S. Steel's Position
John Stephens, vice president of U. S. Steel in charge of labor relations, did much of the talking for the steel executives. For many years Stephens has been quite friendly with Murray and leaders of the Steelworkers Union, but lately relations have been strained.

Stephens charges that Murray agreed last year not to raise the issue of increased wages this year. Murray in turn is indignant over the fact that the rooms in which negotiations were held on a previous occasion were wired with hidden microphones, and now steel executives allude to statements which were secretly recorded.

As negotiations opened this week, Stephens bluntly informed Mediator Ching and Phil Murray that the ten-cent-an-hour increase for pensions and social security benefits recommended by the White House fact-finding board was out of the question.

Stephens reiterated that the company was prepared to offer four cents an hour toward workmen's pensions—provided the steelworkers themselves contributed an additional two cents—but would go no further. Non-contributory pensions borne entirely by management were too great a tax on industry and eventually on the consuming public, the steel spokesman declared.

"You never know where they're going to stop," said Stephens. "The coal industry has had a bitter experience along this line with John L. Lewis. Lewis started demanding and getting five-cent-a-ton royalty for the miners' welfare fund."

"Then he got 10 cents, then 20 cents and now he is reported to be demanding 40 cents from the coal operators."

Ching replied that he could not understand this reasoning. The fact-finding proposal for 10 cents was fair to both sides and had been made after a thorough study by conscientious men who were thinking of the national interest.

Russia Witches Steel Crisis
"But this is more than a national issue," Ching emphasized. "It has very serious international implications. A steel strike at this time would be disastrous, not only to our own economy, but to the program we have undertaken to insure world peace."

"You all know what has happened in Britain, and we cannot afford to allow anything to happen to our own economy if we are to continue to help others to ward off the threat of Communism. A steel strike at this time would be the greatest boon we could give to Russia."

Ching's top assistant, William Margolis, broke in with the observation: "Yes, the reporters for Pravda will be having a wonderful time the next few weeks if our steel plants close down."

At one point Murray unloaded a caustic blast—which almost equaled John L. Lewis' sarcasm—against U. S. Steel's publicity campaign. He reminded Fairless that U. S. Steel had spent several hundred thousand dollars on advertisements in the morning papers and wanted to know what he meant by dissipating the assets of his corporation in such a wanton manner.

"It would have been far better to use the money to pay pensions," chided Murray, "rather than pull the wool over the public's eyes."

Mellons Give Orders
Murray also criticized Adm. Ben Moreell, former chief of navy supply, now head of the Jones and Laughlin Steel Company, and hitherto friendly toward the steelworkers. Moreell had appeared ready to accept the Fact-Finding Board's recommendation, but, just before the negotiations began, Moreell was reported to have received instructions from the Mellon interests in Pittsburgh, who control Jones and Laughlin, to backtrack. Murray, therefore, accused Moreell of vacillating, not being a free man, and he quoted statements by the admiral indicating his earlier willingness to accept.

Murray asked Moreell point-blank why he didn't accept the fact-finding recommendations.

The admiral, who had a fine war record, claimed Murray had not quoted him correctly.

After these fireworks, Mediator Ching decided that separate meetings might be more conducive to harmony and went into a series of huddles—first with union leaders, then with the steel executives. They got nowhere. But the negotiations made one point reasonably clear: The steel industry had decided that any settlement must come under the Taft-Hartley Act, and that to bring this about the industry was quite willing to accept a strike.

Strange Chapter in B-36 Controversy Is Refusal of Air Force Secretary to Testify

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, Sept. 23—Another strange chapter in the B-36 controversy is being written. Now the air force secretary, hitherto quite vocal on the subject, declines to testify before the Naval Court of Inquiry.

This naval court, however, is a court created by statute and has the power of subpoena and can command the presence, as a witness, of anybody inside or outside the government. Yet the secretary of the air force, Stuart Symington, has declined to appear in response to an "invitation" and the implication is that, if the secretary's testimony is really desired, it will have to be compelled by subpoena.

The secretary of the navy has the power not only to convene and adjourn the court but to indicate the line of questioning it may adopt though the latter authority is rarely exercised. Now that Mr. Symington has been relieved of the necessity of testifying, and this naval court has been prevented from getting pertinent testimony, the whole naval court idea will deteriorate.

Just why does the secretary of the air force decline to testify and just what testimony is being sought from him by the naval court?

The episode starts with a recent investigation by the House Armed Services Committee. Mr. Symington testified that he knew who wrote the so-called anonymous memorandum and he indicated that a "series of individuals" wrote it. He was not asked to name the authors. Mr. Symington also told the House committee that the air force had made an investigation of the source of the attacks on the B-36, but the House committee has never released a copy of the report placed before it by the secretary of the air force.

Mr. Symington now says that the chairman of the House Armed Services Committee, Rep. Carl Vinson, Democrat of Georgia, doesn't want him to testify on the air force investigation report.

This is strange, indeed, because Mr. Vinson was quoted when the committee recessed recently as having said that there were plenty of persons in the navy involved and, as in effect, challenging the navy to go ahead and pursue the inquiry, which it promptly did.

During the naval court's sessions, Cedric Worth has testified that he alone was the author and he has contradicted the testimony given by various persons who claimed the memorandum was "anonymous." Mr. Worth says he personally delivered the memorandum to various members of Congress before the House committee's investigation was ordered, and that he told them plainly he was the author and that the document was not "anonymous" but was submitted at the request of a member of Congress.

Mr. Symington, in refusing to testify before the naval court, says:

"Any testimony that I might give the court could well have the appearance of entering into an inter-service controversy, since I, as secretary of the air force, would be testifying on matters concerning the internal affairs of the Navy Department."

The same self-justification was absent, however, when the secretary of the air force testified before the House Armed Services Committee, whose hearings certainly had more than an "appearance" of entering into an inter-service controversy.

The Naval Court of Inquiry, moreover, has a right to know how and why the air force investigated a sister service, using detectives or inspectors to get evidence which was then submitted to a congressional committee. It would appear that if the proprieties had been carefully observed, the secretary of the air force should have asked the secretary of the navy to conduct the inquiry as to the alleged activities of naval personnel against the air force. Likewise, as a reciprocal courtesy, the secretary of the navy might well have asked the secretary of the air force to investigate the attacks made in print on the navy by air force officers. Testimony to this effect was placed in the record of the House Armed Services Committee, but nothing was done about it.

Indeed, there was really very little cross-examination by the House committee. It was a one-sided investigation. Naval officers were not put on the witness stand. One of the things a Naval Court of Inquiry permits is cross-examination of witnesses. When Mr. Symington declines to testify, he avoids cross-examination as to why he investigated a sister service.

All this merely adds to the mystery and shows that unification in spirit will never be achieved by statute or executive order and that it can be accomplished only when each service is permitted to evaluate its own weapons and when budgets for each are fixed by the President and the director of the budget and the secretary of defense.

Without permitting the heads of the two services to decide how much money their respective services shall have, Three West Point graduates versus one Annapolis graduate deciding budgets in the joint chiefs of staff will not promote unity or mutual trust or an effective national defense.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

New York, Sept. 22—The special tax dodge on a pay raise of $50,000 arranged for President Truman in the false guise of an expense allowance stands in spectacular contrast to the withholding tax. President Truman's dodge was rushed through before inauguration day because the trick had been delayed until the beginning of his current term, the exemption could not have been claimed during this term, which may be his last. The $50,000 is supposed to be an expense allowance. It is nothing of the kind. It is an increase in pay.

He also received in the salary rush-net a taxable raise of $25,000 from $75,000 to $100,000. There is elaborate provision otherwise for his expenses, which are not high because he is a frugal man. He may even knock down on the regular allowance of $40,000 because he doesn't have to prove that he spent it for legitimate expenses of his office. He is supposed to "account" for it.

The official attitude of the government toward normally respectable citizens is cold-eyed suspicion and doubt. Mr. Truman is taken at his word. They are required to furnish either absolute proof and vouchers to establish their expense accounts, or submit to skeptical spot-checking at random. The duties of his office are exacting, but President Truman works no harder than thousands of other citizens who have to prove their expense statements. His reputation in private life and his association with low characters in the political life of Kansas City would have caused the Treasury to check him very carefully if he were not President of the United States. Nevertheless, he is given the benefit of all doubts and it were unthinkable that a field agent of the Income Tax should insist on squandering out the expense accounts and going over the memoranda and receipts.

The withholding tax applies to most employed persons, and many workers in the lowest income brackets are compelled to surrender money to the treasury which they admittedly do not owe. A worker does not owe the government any tax until he has received $600 in the tax year. Yet the deduction begins with his first pay envelope and the earner pays tax on an income which has not yet reached the minimum taxable figure of $600. There are many cases of workers who were docked the withholding tax without lawfully because they never reached $600 in the tax year. Not all of them have received refunds, and it is obvious that a person in this bracket has far greater need of his refund than President Truman has of his special takeoff under the tax-exemption.

One such claimant wrote to Miss (Continued on Page 5, Col. 8)

The recent headlines about Florida's ill-wind reminded me of a hurricane story I heard in Trinidad last January . . .

Around the turn of the century, a lean-bellied little man named General Avila Hernandez became mayor of a town on the Caribbean coast. He belonged to the old Latin school which figured a man was no more than an animal unless he had a million pesos and a couple of mistresses.

The town he governed consisted of two parts: An island shambles of mud huts and sun-baked pottery, and a mainland district of landowners who preferred to remain apart from the sight and smell of the riffraff.

Like most dictators, the general was an advocate of modernization, and among the blessings he brought to his small domain were a shiny fire engine and a steel drawbridge, the first of their kind in that part of the world.

The bridge, which connected the two parts of the town, was used not only to join but to separate. Every night, after the workers had crossed to their slum dwellings, the two halves were raised, and the drawbridge lowered.

Flow of ship traffic in the channel, but actually to insure the safety and privacy of the privileged. As a special concession, however, the class-conscious contraption was lowered whenever the wind started howling, so that in case of tidal wave or hurricane the islanders could take refuge in the mainland hills.

In that part of the Caribbean the wind howls frequently, and one day, tired of the intrusion of peasant and goats on their estates, the landowners sent a delegation to the mayor and demanded the trespassing cease.

"It will never happen again," the general promised.

One evening not long after, the wind began to lash in from the sea and the worried islanders headed for the bridge. By the time the first group arrived, the general was in the control booth on the mainland side of the draw.

He waited until the crowd was half way across the span and then pulled the lever, and as the two halves parted and began to tilt those in the middle tried to leap the chasm which separated them from safety. Some of the more agile made it, but others—especially the elders and children—fell into the channel and drowned.

The remainder slid to the base of the ramp where they were joined by others who clumored and pleaded to be let across, but by this time the general had locked the controls and was safe in his home on the hill.

When the core of the hurricane hit an hour later, several hundred people were drowned in the waves which swept over the waterfront.

Next morning the general ordered the drawbridge lowered, made a quick inspection of the dazed survivors and their squashed huts, and proclaimed a day of mourning. But as the day wore on, the islanders began to assemble and their lamentations were replaced by talk of insurrection.

This was the excuse the general had been looking for, and he announced that on the following day, himself, General Avila Hernandez, would lead his troops against the riffraff.

At sunrise next day, the mainland waterfront was decorated as for a fête. Gentlemen on horseback and ladies in carriages lined the docks, and at the appointed time the span was lowered and the general, astride a black horse, saluted his adherents and set out alone across the bridge.

When he was three-fourths of the way, he signaled for his men to follow—but not one of them moved. Almost every soldier had lost a relative or friend in the hurricane.

Suddenly the draw began to rise, and the opposite shore became alive with people converging on the bridge. The general wheeled his horse, hoping to leap the widening gap, but it was too late—going up the steep incline the animal slipped and he barely managed to throw himself clear.

As the general got to his feet, the shiny fire engine, its red lacquer hidden by grim men hanging to the sides, chugged through the crowd. A dozen hands unwound the high pressure hose and the nozzle was aimed at the lover of modern improvement.

At moment later the full force of the stinging water hit the general, and he backed up against the upright span of the bridge. But the water kept coming until, drenched and choking for air, he fell on his hands and knees.

"Wash him off the bridge," someone yelled. The hose was moved forward and the half-drowned man grasped a girder and tried to swing himself beneath it, but the water caught his body and twisted it as if it were paper. He hung by his fingers for a few seconds and then let go.

The fire crew dragged the hose to the bridge rail and the jet of water was fixed on the bobbing body of the general until it sank from sight.

"Now His Excellency knows what a hurricane is like," said an old man. (Copyright, 1949, by Billy Rose) (Distributed by The Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

BY WILLIAM E. MCKENNEY

America's Card Authority

Written for NEA Service

There is a knack in recognizing good bridge hand after you have played it. Some players give me all squeeze plays, others think the most thrilling hands are strip and end plays.

When I get a hand from Herman Goldberg of New York City, I can count on it to be an all-around good hand. And he always has a good story in connection with his hand.

Goldberg says, "Very often you play with a partner who has too much confidence in you. He will put you in a slam contract and then will look at you just as much as to say, 'You can do the impossible!'" Herman was playing with one of those admiring partners the other night in a rubber game. He held the South cards in today's hand. He said, "Look at my hand. I passed, and when East in fourth position bid a club, I thought I would shut everybody out of the bidding by my pre-emptive bid

Farmers Are Told Brannan Plan Is Sign of Dictation

Sioux City, Ia., Sept. 23 (AP)—Republican leaders told farmers today that the Truman administration's Brannan farm plan was "concocted by labor politicians" as a means of getting cheap food.

If put into effect, they said, the plan would put farmers at the mercy of an "uncertain government" and government dictation of production.

Opening a two-day farm conference called to get midwestern farmers' ideas on future farm programs, Chairman Guy C. Gabrielson of the G.O.P. National Committee and Representative Hope of Kansas made the Brannan Plan and its labor leader supporters their main targets.

Out of the conference Republicans hope to get recommendations that would help them regain farmer support which in last year's presidential election went to President Truman.

The conference was billed as a "tell-us-what-you-want" gathering. Nevertheless, both Gabrielson and Hope went to considerable length to give Republican party views on the farm problem.

Both said the G.O.P. favors farm price supports. But Republicans, Hope said, want a support program which would give the farmer his full "fair" return at the marketplace.

By contrast he said, the Brannan Plan would reduce farm prices and require farmers to depend on government subsidies for such a return.

The Brannan Plan would permit prices of perishables to drop to supply-and-demand levels, if those levels were below price supports, the government would make up the difference in the form of subsidies paid from the treasury.

Hope said that under the Brannan Plan, the government would pay part of everyone's grocery bill. Republicans, he said, would limit such government consumer aid to low income groups.

Bishop to Discuss World Affairs at Franklin Church

Bishop William Jacob Walls, A.M., D.D., L.L.D., of the Second Episcopal District, A.M.E. Zion Church, will be guest speaker at the 7.45 p. m. service Sunday at the Franklin Street A.M.E. Zion Church in this city.

Bishop Walls has recently returned from Europe where he was a member of the U. S. Clergy Commission to Occupied Europe. All are invited to hear his message on world affairs. He is a pulpiteer, evangelist, world traveler, has been a Christian minister 50 years and a bishop 25 years.

William Jacob Walls was born in Chimney Rock,utherford county, N. C., May 8, 1885. After early education in North Carolina, he attended Livingstone College, Salisbury, N. C., receiving his A.B. degree in 1908 and his D.D. in 1913. He attended Columbia University journalism and philosophy schools and in 1939 received an A.M. degree from Chicago University.

He began as a boy evangelist on September 10, 1889, and toured the country several times. He was pastor at Cleveland, N. C., from 1905 to 1907, Lincoln, N. C., from 1908 to 1910; Soldiers Memorial Church, Salisbury, 1910 to 1913, and Broadway Temple, Louisville, Ky., 1913 to 1920. He was elected bishop in 1924.

He was editor of the Star of Zion, denominational weekly, from 1920 to 1924, and placed the paper on exchange with the leading religious journals and tripled its circulation.

Among the many organizational connections, Bishop Walls is chairman of the Board of Religious Education and Board of Publication of the A.M.E. Zion Church. He is trustee of the Common Theological Seminary, member of the executive committee of the Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America, a member of the central commission of the World Council of Churches and a national director of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

The second Episcopal District of the A.M.E. Zion Church includes the conference of New York, New England, Western New York and Allegheny.

About 10 per cent of the steel workers of the United States are, he said, unskilled.

Red 'Goon' Lay Plans For Hollywood Riot

Hollywood, Sept. 23 (AP)—Charges that Communist "goon squads" already are in town, to lay plans for a riot when negro baritone Paul Robeson gives a concert here Sept. 30, were made yesterday.

James K. McGuinness, executive officer of the Motion Picture Alliance, told a press conference of the newly-organized Conference of Civic Organizations.

"We have information that those subversive elements will try to duplicate what happened recently at Peekskill, N. Y. These advance guards have orders to provoke the hot heads and create another Peekskill, incident in Los Angeles."

The Motion Picture Alliance is a Hollywood anti-Communist group, whose leaders include actress Ginger Rogers and novelist Rupert Hughes. Another top member was director Sam Wood, who died today.

President Robert S. Redington of the new C.C.O. said it represents more than 50 patriotic, civic, veteran and fraternal groups who will attack Communism by "teamwork."

Robeson is to give a concert and speech at Wrigley Field, Los Angeles baseball park. The city council already has urged citizens to stay away.

Right Wingers Talk Leaving Red U.E.

Cleveland, Sept. 23 (AP)—Right wing forces at the C.I.O. United Electrical Workers convention today talked about seceding from the leftist controlled U.E. if that union is expelled or drops out of the C.I.O.

The anti-administration faction, headed by James P. Carey, C.I.O. secretary-treasurer and former U.E. president, last night took steps to remain in the C.I.O. in event the union's franchise is revoked at the C.I.O. convention here Oct. 31.

A right wing caucus attended by 150 delegates elected a 10-man committee to present its case to Philip Murray and the C.I.O. executive board.

Carey said the position of right wing forces in the union has become untenable as a result of its defiance on controversial issues at the union's convention, which ends today.

The convention Wednesday re-elected Albert J. Fitzgerald, leftist president since 1941, and two other left wing officers.

The action by the right wing faction was expected to stir up a new storm on the convention floor today.

The C.I.O. has threatened disciplinary action against the U.E. for failure to follow C.I.O. policies on national and international issues. Its case is expected to be an important issue in the C.I.O. convention here next month.

Could Marriage Reported Canceled

New York, Sept. 23 (AP)—The scheduled marriage of Mrs. Sylvia Gould, an heiress of the Jay Gould fortune, and Lt. Comdr. Ernest Hoefler, Jr., U.S.N., has been called off.

The wedding plans reportedly were dropped because of Hoefler's refusal to give up his navy career and become a businessman in New York.

Friends of the couple were quoted as saying Mrs. Gould had asked Hoefler to quit the navy because she did not want him to be sent into foreign service.

"The couple was to have been married next Saturday at the Gould family's newly century-old estate, Furlough Lodge, near Fleischmanns, N. Y."

The heiress' mother, Mrs. Kingston Gould, said yesterday the plans were cancelled by mutual consent.

Sylvia Gould, twice married previously, is a great granddaughter of financier Jay Gould.

Hoefler, a native of Sheboygan, Wis., is stationed at Washington.

Leopold, Slayer For Thrill, May Get 1953 Parole

Springfield, Ill., Sept. 23 (AP)—Nathan Leopold, Chicago thrill slayer of young Bobby Franks in 1924, now has a chance for parole in 1953.

Gov. Adlai E. Stevenson of Illinois has cut the 44-year-old murderer's prison sentence from 99 to 85 years.

This makes Leopold, scion of a wealthy Chicago family, eligible to apply for parole in January, 1953, instead of in September, 1957—a difference of four and two thirds years.

Commutation was unanimously recommended by the state pardon board. It is Leopold's reward for good conduct in prison and for voluntarily risking his life in wartime prison experiments seeking a cure for malaria. Some other so-called "guinea pig" prisoners have got similar rewards.

Leopold had asked that his sentence be cut to 75 years. That would have made him immediately eligible for parole after 25 years behind bars.

He and Richard (Dickie) Loeb were convicted of murder Sept. 20, 1924 in the kidnap killing of Bobby Franks, 14-year-old son of a millionaire neighbor.

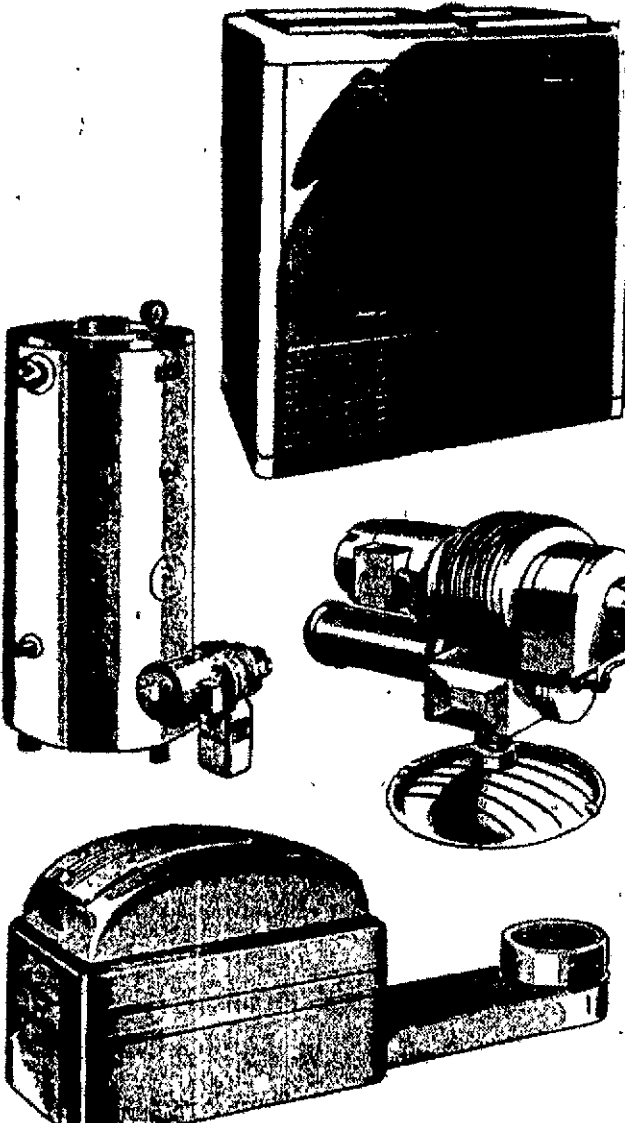

Loeb was slain in prison in 1936. He was knifed by another prisoner—later acquitted of a murder charge—who said Loeb made an indecent proposal to him.

The sensational killing of the Franks boy shocked the nation. The lad's nude body, the head crushed by a steel bar, was found in a culvert after his family got demands for $10,000 ransom.

Leopold and Loeb, both then 19-year-old students at the University of Chicago, later confessed,

Hoople Comes Out of Retirement Picks Connecticut Over Old Eli

By MAJOR AMOS B. HOOPLE

World's Upset Champion
Egad and hallo!
My millions of readers will be elated to know I am out of retirement, and again will forecast the exact football results each week-end.

I've been sequestered for a spell, studying the prelate with an idea of applying the principle of its curves to baseball. But popular demand has overwhelmed me, so here I am—huh-heh!

Har-rumph! Right on top of news events as usual, I observe a few rules changes and on one I beg permission to digress briefly. Elimination of the rule permitting one substitute to enter the game while the clock is running is a great step in giving the game to the boys. The boys play the game. Let them have it, is my ukase!

There still will be mass substitutions, to be sure, but coaches no longer can send in single men carrying instructions without a time out. This will improve the game's thinking, according to my logic, as the boys can out-think most of the coaches anyway—spuit-t!

As you know, I am an upset specialist, and I have a few mild ones to offer in the opener, September 24: Connecticut to defeat Yale, Lafayette to trounce Princeton, and Vanderbilt to over-ride Georgia Tech—haw!

New 50-50 to the forecast which you will find 100 per cent accurate.

Major Hoople . . . the world's upset champion looks 'em over.

Peter Johnson, 25, of 69 Liberty street, who was arrested following the discovery of a truck in the Rondout creek Sept. 15, was given a suspended sentence of a year in jail by City Judge Raymond J. Mine today on a malicious mischief charge.
Police charged that Johnson had caused the truck to run off Dock street into the creek, and Jay Waldo Coutant, an employee of the Wiltwyck School at Esopus, who was charged with theft of the vehicle, was held for the grand jury.
Authorities said Johnson made restitution for the damage. He was represented by Attorney Charles Saccoman in court.

Speakers at Women's G.O.P. Meeting

At a well attended meeting of the Ulster County Women's Republican Club in Town of Esopus Hall, Port Ewen, Thursday night speakers were Mrs. Vincent Connelly, who as president of the organization acted as chairman of the session; Mrs. Henry Cameron, County Judge John M. Cashin, Mrs. John O. Beaver and Miss Ruth Miner, deputy executive secretary of state. (Freeman Photo)

Registration Is Important G.O.P. Women Are Told

The importance of getting voters out to register and vote was stressed Thursday evening by Miss Ruth Miner, deputy executive secretary of state, in a talk before a large crowd of Republicans from the town of Esopus and Kingston at the town hall in Port Ewen last evening. The meeting had been planned by Mrs. Henry M. Cameron and Mrs. John O. Beaver and was held under the sponsorship of the Ulster County Republican Women's Club.
Miss Miner in her talk, which at times was humorous but as a whole was in a serious vein, told of the importance of getting out the vote. A lax attitude on the part of party workers and an attitude of indifference on the part of voters frequently spelled out victory for the opposition party. She stressed the need of local activity in interesting voters to get out and be registered and to exercise their right to vote on election day.

Dulles Needed
On behalf of Senator John Foster Dulles, Miss Miner stressed the importance of getting out every vote in order that Senator Dulles be returned to the United States Senate by an overwhelming majority. She spoke on the need of voting every Republican candidate on the ticket from town offices on through county and state but placed special stress on the reelection of Senator Dulles whose influence in Washington are deeply needed during the present world-wide crisis.
The meeting was presided over by Mrs. Vincent G. Connelly, president of the Ulster County Women's Republican Club, who praised the work done by Mrs. Cameron and Mrs. Beaver, local chairmen, who planned the meeting. Mrs. Connelly also announced various coming events which have been planned by the Republican Women's Club, including the auction and picnic which will be held at Hasbrouck Park next Saturday, as well as card parties to be held under sponsorship of the women.

Cashin Is Speaker
County Judge John M. Cashin, Republican candidate to succeed himself as county judge and judge of the children's court, also addressed the meeting. Judge Cashin spoke on the work of the office and recited many interesting and at times humorous incidents which came up during the course of his work. Judge Cashin said that the duties were numerous and varied and in fact it almost required a psychologist who could dig down deep into the minds of people if all of the problems which faced the court were to be solved. Judge Cashin referred to the problems which grow out of Children's Court, problems which involve the future often of not only young children but of entire families. Duties of the county judge are at times humorous and at times tragic "but at all times it is an interesting work," concluded Judge Cashin.

At this point several of the candidates on the Republican ticket who had been attending the Republican County Committee organization meeting at the court house in Kingston, arrived along with Senator Arthur H. Wicks, who has been reelected Ulster county Republican chairman, and Senator Wicks presented the candidates. As they were presented they made brief remarks asking for the support of the voters and urging that the voters support the entire ticket by seeing that a record vote was cast next November.
Those presented by Senator Wicks were Louis G. Bruhn, candidate for district attorney; John T. Groves of Port Ewen, candidate for county treasurer; Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk of Kingston, who although not a county candidate is interested in seeing that the entire Republican ticket is elected; Joseph Kelly, Republican candidate for alderman-at-large in the city of Kingston and City Judge Raymond Mino who is seeking reelection as city judge of the city of Kingston.
Also presented to the people of the town was Supervisor Henry M. Cameron of Ulster Park who spoke on behalf of the town ticket.
Although the weather was bad the town auditorium was well filled with residents of the town of Esopus and there were many present from the city of Kingston who had been attracted to the meeting by the announcement that Miss Miner and County Judge Cashin would be speakers.
At the conclusion of the meeting a social hour was enjoyed and refreshments were served.
